

Welcome to Staindrop Lodge Hotel

Staindrop Lodge was built in 1806 by George Newton who named it after the village of Staindrop in County Durham where he was born in 1761. It remained the home of the members of the Newton family for over a century until 1920. George Newton, his son Thomas, his grandson Thomas Chambers Newton, and his great granddaughter Kate Newton all lived here.

In 1904 the house was substantially rebuilt by Thomas Chambers Newton, and in 1946 it was taken over for use by the board of directors of Newton Chambers and their guests.

Having been used as a head office for the Newton Chambers Company, it was later converted to a restaurant, small hotel and function venue.

September 2002 saw Staindrop Lodge reopen after more than two years of major building and refurbishment work.

Now a landmark bar, brasserie and hotel, influenced by the Art Deco design movement, we have created a venue 'Open to All' where quality of service and an informal, comfortable ambience is a paramount prerequisite.

The Following Services Are Provided With Our Compliments

Step by step guidance from our experienced wedding co-ordinator to help organise your wedding reception

White linen table cloths and napkins for your wedding breakfast

Silver cake stand and knife

Our wedding co-ordinator or duty manager to act as toastmaster on the day

When you have a wedding breakfast and evening function at Staindrop Lodge the bride and groom receive a complimentary executive bedroom including breakfast.

Wedding Day Traditions

At the reception the traditional line up waiting to greet the guests is as follows:

The Brides parents, Bridegrooms parents, then the Bridesmaids & the Best man & lastly the Bride & Bridegroom.

Toasts & Speeches

These normally take place at the end of the meal.

The usual order of procedure is:

Toast to 'The Bride & Bridegroom'.

This is normally proposed by the Brides father.

Toast to 'The Bridesmaids'.

This is always proposed by the Bridegroom following his response to the first toast.

The Best man would then respond to the Bridegrooms speech on behalf of the Bridesmaids. He would also read any messages or greeting cards to the guests.
